WINTER LIGHTS JUBILEE PARK, CANARY WHARF

9 JANUARY - 2 MARCH

MARBLES BY DAAN ROOSEGAARDE

This year's Winter Lights installation is the first UK presentation of 'Marbles', a new interactive artwork by Dutch artist and designer Daan Roosegaarde. Enlivening the park during the dark winter months, eight large coloured moulded shapes are arranged in groups to interact with people walking by via sound, light and colour, transforming the park into an interactive environment of light and play. Each 'marble' contains sensors that respond to human proximity or touch as well as the presence of telephones, laptops and other objects, triggering changes of colour and sound. The 'marbles' also multiply these interactions between themselves, delightfully appearing to communicate spontaneously with each other.

HEE YOUNG KIM

Tidying and rearranging her wardrobes or drawers has always given Hee Young a sense of satisfaction, knowing that everything is neatly in place. The spaces can be full or empty. Hee Young explores the harmony of the hidden, secret spaces that everyone has, which imply mystery and intrigue. heeyoungkimjewellery.com

SOO JI SHIN

Soo Ji's designs are fresh and unusual. She strives to bring movement to ordinarily motionless lighting. Chandeliers look as if they are sea creatures that gather when people feed them. Soo Ji's designs are all bespoke, made by her own hand sewing. soojis.com
